WELCOME TO WALTER SISULU UNIVERSITY

ABOUT WALTER SISULU UNIVERSITY

Walter Sisulu University (WSU) was established on 1 July, 2005 (by a three-way merger) in terms of the Higher Education Act No. 101 of 1997, as amended. The new university was named in honour of an icon of the South African liberation struggle, the late Walter Max Ulyate Sisulu who was a close comrade of Nelson Mandela.

As one of six comprehensive universities in South Africa, WSU has positioned itself as a developmental university focusing on urban renewal and rural development. It may be characterised as scientific, technological, innovative and responsive to local community needs, the requirements of commerce and industry and the socio-economic niche areas of national government.

WSU is uniquely positioned to play a powerful role in the national government's new focus on rural development in particular. 30,000 students and about 2,000 staff live and work across four campuses with thirteen delivery sites.

Mthatha Campus: Nelson Mandela Drive, Zamukulungisa and Fort Gale Sites

Butterworth Campus: Ibika Site

Buffalo City Campus: (East London): Potsdam, Chiselhurst, College Street, Heritage Building, Cambridge Street and Buffalo City Stadium Sites

Queenstown Campus: Whittlesea (former Masibulele College) and Grey Street Sites.

The seven faculties are:

1. Faculty of Management & Public Administration Sciences
2. Faculty of Economic & Financial Sciences
3. Faculty of Medicine & Health Sciences
4. Faculty of Natural Sciences
5. Faculty of Education
6. Faculty of Engineering, Built Environment & Information Technology
7. Faculty of Law, Humanities & Social Sciences

All WSU's academic programmes are accredited by the Council for Higher Education and many programmes are also accredited by various professional bodies. WSU offers over 175 qualifications from certificates and diplomas, to degrees and postgraduate studies.

WALTER SISULU UNIVERSITY'S ACADEMIC SEAL

For exclusive use at Graduation, WSU has an academic seal depicting the face of Walter Sisulu and three of his core values: Excellence, Integrity, Wisdom.

Transmission dynamics and Public Health impact of Clonal Composition and mixed Strain Mycobacterium Tuberculosis Infections among patients in rural high TB incidence settings of Eastern Cape Province

Supervisor: Prof T Apalata

Co-supervisor: Prof S Vasaikar

CITATION

Born in rural KwaBhaca, Eastern Cape with a life shaped by fascination of unseen world of microbes in medical laboratory science, where every specimen tells a story, and every diagnosis holds a piece of the puzzle to improve human health.

The study sought to redefine the landscape of tuberculosis (TB) research in rural areas by spanning a diverse range of topics: Detection of Mutations and Genotyping of Drug-Resistant M. tuberculosis Strains Isolated from Patients in the Rural Eastern Cape Province; Spatial Distribution of Drug-Resistant M. tuberculosis Infections in Rural Eastern Cape Province of South Africa; Treatment Outcomes and Associated Factors among Tuberculosis Patients from Selected Rural Eastern Cape Hospitals and Clonal heterogeneity in the M. tuberculosis isolates among patients with drug-resistant TB and discordance among various tests used for the diagnosis of drug-resistant TB. The research findings revealed that TB in this study area is genetically diverse, some patients had both resistant and susceptible strains of M. tuberculosis infection at the same time, the treatment success rate of treatment outcomes fell short of the 95% World Health Organization threshold with a high proportion of patients being lost to follow up while the co-infection of TB and HIV resulted in undesirable treatment outcomes. The study concluded that there is a need to do continuous drug resistant and heteroresistant strain surveillances and identify hotspots of gene mutations and lineages, develop new strategies to improve treatment success rate as well as developing easy to use diagnostic test kits. Rather than following the traditional format of thesis writing, the dissemination of research findings was done through a series of peer-reviewed publications, marking different approach to scientific inquiry. Each publication contributed to a deeper understanding of TB biology, diagnosis, and treatment.

Contributions of this research study to TB research are an indelible mark on the field of laboratory medicine and will inspire and guide emerging scientist in TB research especially in rural areas to work in a collective pursuit of a community free from the burden of TB. Furthermore, this academic journey of excellence serves as a testament to the transformative power of scientific inquiry and the unwavering commitment to advancing human health especially in rural areas of Eastern Cape that have limited health resources by Walter Sisulu University.

Traditional Health Practices used by pregnant women attending the Health Facilities in King Sabata Dalindyebo Sub-District of O.R. Tambo District, Eastern Cape Province.

Supervisor: Dr HT Musarurwa

Co Supervisor: Dr O Oladimeji

CITATION

Mvulakazi Jordan-Thipanyane is a qualified nurse born in Mt Ayliff with extensive experience in the field of primary health care and health promotion. She held strategic positions in government and academic space during her prime years.

Traditional Health practices are an integral part of the health care provision in African countries with majority of the population using it as the first level of care before considering conventional approaches. This phenomenological study examined traditional health practices used during pregnancy by pregnant women and traditional health practitioners in OR Tambo district using Focus Group discussion and Kei Informant Interviews. African mahogany bark, herbal decoctions and holy water were reported to treat labour pains and are used during post-natal care. However, secrecy in ingredients and preparatory methodology, unverifiable measurements, and concerns with patency rights result in poor understanding and integration of the traditional health services into the conventional health system thus creating space for more bogus practitioners who exploit the public using prohibited materials like human body parts.

Finalization of the council register for traditional health practitioners, recognition of existence, support for protection of patency, clearly defined and functional referral pathways between the two systems remain a major priority. This study culminated to the integrated model for management of the use of traditional health services during pregnancy using reciprocal determinism.

Thesis Title: Temperature-sensitive gel containing Nano Encapsulated Tinospora Cordifolia extract using poly (lactic-co-glycolic acid) for diabetic wound healing.

Supervisor: Prof AO Oyediji
Co Supervisor: Prof Samuel O Oluwafemi
Prof Sabu Thomas

CITATION

Rose Jaquilin was born 39 years ago in Alappuzha, India. She holds a BSc and MSc in Chemistry from India. She is married with three children.

Her study aimed at synthesizing thermo-sensitive Pluronic F-127 gel containing Tinospora cordifolia extract-loaded PLGA nanoparticles for the fast healing of diabetic wounds. She was able to achieve this by first identifying the phytochemical compounds in the Tinospora cordifolia plant; synthesizing and characterization of Tinospora cordifolia (TC) extract loaded poly (lactic- co- glycolic acid) nanoparticles; synthesizing the thermo-sensitive Pluronic F127 gel containing Tinospora cordifolia extract loaded Poly (lactic- co- glycolic acid) nanoparticles; these were then tested in- vivo in rats for the wound healing potential of Pluronic F-127 gel incorporated with poly (lactic- co- glycolic acid) nanoparticles encapsulated Tinospora cordifolia (TC) extract.

She has a patent from her study, published an article, a book chapter, and co-edited a book Nanotechnology In Herbal Medicine: Applications and Innovations. ISBN: 978-0-323-99527-6 (print); ISBN: 978-0-323-99528-3 (online).

CITATION

Anwuli Endurance Odieka born on the 13th of September 1988, hails from Orerokpe, Delta State, Nigeria. She holds a BSc and MSc in Chemistry from the University of Port Harcourt, Rivers State, Nigeria. She is married with a daughter.

Her study investigates Cannabis sativa cultivated in the Eastern Cape Province of South Africa, its chemical fingerprint, and isolated compounds from its stem bark for possible biological applications. Fresh and dried leaves, flowers, stem barks, and roots of two Cannabis cultivars were used for the study. She extracted essential oils from the various plant parts to establish the chemical profiles of the oils. Furthermore, she studied the metabolomics fingerprinting of the two cannabis cultivars and isolated seven compounds from the hexane and ethyl acetate extracts which she their structures using spectroscopic methods. Four of these compounds are newly described while all the compounds are reported for the first time from the Eastern Cape Cultivar (Cherrywine) of C. sativa stem.

From her results, the stem of the cannabis plant has more medicinal potential as compared to the flowers and leaves that are currently being used. She has published an article from the study.
